

1 November 2011

News Release

Leadership change at Siemens in the UK

Siemens has announced today (1 November 2011) that Andreas J. Goss, the current Chief Executive of Siemens plc, will step down from his position at the end of 2011 at his own request. Mr Goss will leave the company to pursue new professional challenges. Brigitte Ederer, Head of Human Resources and a member of the Managing Board, Siemens AG, thanked Andreas Goss for his more than 21 years service to Siemens and, in particular, for the major successes that Siemens in the UK has achieved under his leadership, both as Chief Financial Officer since 2006 and as Chief Executive since 2008.

Roland Aurich (53) has been named as the new Chief Executive of Siemens plc with effect from 1st January 2012. Mr Aurich, a Swedish national, is currently the President & CEO of Siemens in Canada and, prior to this position, he served as CEO of Siemens in Sweden.

-ends-

Notes to editors:

About Siemens in the UK

Siemens was established in the United Kingdom 168 years ago and now employs around 16,000 people in the UK. Last year's revenues were £4.1 billion. As a leading global engineering and technology services company, Siemens provides innovative solutions to help tackle the world's major challenges, across the key sectors of energy, industry, infrastructure and cities and healthcare. Siemens has offices and factories throughout the UK, with its headquarters in Frimley, Surrey. The company's global headquarters is in Munich, Germany. For more information, visit www.siemens.co.uk

For more information and pictures, contact:

Anne Keogh
Siemens plc
Tel: +44 (0)1276 696312
Mob: +44 (0)7808 823545
Email: anne.keogh@siemens.com