

JOB DESCRIPTION

Post: Chair, Fitness to Practise Panel

Responsible to: Head of Regulatory Improvements and Hearings

Eligibility

You are eligible to apply to become a chair if you:

- are currently practising as a solicitor or advocate in Scotland
- have extensive litigation experience in regulatory, civil or criminal law
- have practised as a solicitor or advocate in Scotland for a period of at least five years.

About us

The Scottish Social Services Council (SSSC) is responsible for protecting and enhancing the safety and welfare of people who use social services and maintaining public confidence in the social service workforce.

The Regulatory Improvement and Hearings department (RIH) recruits and retains members to the Fitness to Practise Panel and arranges hearings in cases where workers' fitness to practise may be impaired because of their conduct, professional practice, or health.

Purpose of the role

The Fitness to Practise Panel includes three members:

- chair – a member who is legally qualified
- lay member – a member who does not have a background in social services
- social service member – a member who is registered with the SSSC and is an experienced social service worker.

Hearings include application, impairment, restoration and temporary order hearings, where allegations of impairment of workers' fitness to practise are considered. The chair will provide legal advice to the Panel and reach decisions in collaboration with the other Panel members. The Panel must demonstrate fairness and consistency of application of the SSSC's Fitness to Practise Rules. The chair will also chair case management meetings.

Main duties

The main duties listed below are those required under the current rules and may change if the rules change.

1. Chair Fitness to Practise Panel hearings (application, impairment, restoration and temporary order hearings). These will take place within our offices in Dundee, online or, on occasion, in alternative venues throughout Scotland.
2. Ensure the hearing process is:
  - fair
  - transparent
  - lawful
  - held in accordance with the formal Rules and procedures which govern the hearing process.
3. Provide advice to the Panel on matters of law, including procedure, admissibility and sufficiency of evidence, sanctions, natural justice, human rights, the Regulation of Care (Scotland) Act 2001 and the SSSC Fitness to Practise Rules 2016 as amended from time to time.
4. Hear submissions and evidence from the SSSC's Fitness to Practise solicitors, social service workers, workers' representatives, and witnesses.
5. With panel colleagues, question parties and witnesses where appropriate, to clarify points relating to their submissions or evidence.
6. Make impartial and objective assessments of submissions and evidence and work collaboratively with other Panel members during the hearing process and private deliberations, to come to a decision about workers' fitness to practise.
7. Carry out the twin role of providing legal advice to the Panel and working with the Panel to make decisions as above.

8. Manage hearings to make them as accessible as possible to those who appear before them.
9. Balance the need to allow unrepresented workers to understand and participate in the hearing with the interests of public protection.
10. Manage the hearing to ensure time is used effectively and efficiently.
11. Respond to applications for postponement from SSSC solicitors and workers and decide whether to agree or refuse the application.
12. Produce a written note of any legal advice given and repeat legal advice given in private to the parties in the hearing.
13. Read and consider case papers in advance of hearings.
14. At various stages of a hearing, draft notices setting out the Panel's decisions and proposals and the reasons for them.
15. Act as chair at case management meetings and make decisions on matters such as admissibility of evidence, and where necessary, to issue directions to ensure the smooth running of the hearings eg arrangements regarding vulnerable witnesses, requests for specific information.
16. Carry out tasks promptly and within timescales prescribed by the applicable rules.
17. Attend training courses provided by or facilitated by the SSSC, as required in relation to the role of chair, including induction before commencing Panel work, data protection training and twice-yearly panel training.
18. Actively participate in process improvement to ensure the hearing process develops to meet the needs of public protection and of those participating in it.
19. The time commitment varies depending on the number of hearings and the number and availability of chairs. Chairs must be available for between 15 and 30 days each year.

20. The appointment is for a period of three years with a potential for extension for up to a further four years.
